Hand Us That $.

An unusually cool June.

Found—Gold Watch. O. H. Hendren.
Cut your weeds, clean up and whitewash.

Blackberries next week, and a bumper crop.
An abundance of white clover insures a fine crop of honey this year.

The spring chicken crop is a little back, they are scarce and the price as yet is prohibitive.

Most of our people have "had beans out of their garden" and roasting ears are coming on rapidly.

Keeping pace with other products of the county, we have fine prospects for a good crop of turkeys.

Rain accompanied by wind did considerable damage to fencing and trees near Bryansville last week.

Make the street loafer go to work or leave town; there is no excuse for idleness when labor is in such sharp demand.

The Sunday school attendance at Mane last Sunday week was 85 and the attendance at the Presbyterian here was 79.

Many of our citizens are complaining of the ravages of stray stock on their lawns at night. Where is the "stray pen" law.

Tell your grocer, "here's a dime,
Let me have a feast sublime."
You'll get "Stone's Cake" every time.
10c at Currys grocery.

Thrashing machines are already tuning up preparatory to the seasons work, and between them and the automobile the horse that is shy is going to see a hard time in the near future.

Baseball is having one of the worst seasons in many years. Summer clothing sales have also had a set back, palm beaches and straw hats don't look well in a cold rain. The only thing that seems to be looking up is that advocate of preparedness—the umbrella.

Woodrow Wilson and Thomas Riley Marshall were renominated as the standard-bearers of the party by acclamation by the Democratic National Convention in St. Louis. The President was placed in nomination by Attorney General Wescott, of New Jersey, and the delegates staged a demonstration lasting forty-five minutes after the nomination speech had been concluded.
Only two seconding speeches were made.
Senator Kern nominated Vice President Marshall.

HOUSE.

Much sympathy has been extended Mrs. Tom McMillan in the loss of her mother, Mrs. Willie House. She was a most estimable christian woman, whose loss is not only felt by her children but a large circle of friends and relatives.

THE REASON WHY.

Why is it that BATSON & WEST are selling GOODS SO CHEAP?
BECAUSE they buy for CASH and sell
for CASH.
BECAUSE they take all discounts.
BECAUSE they have the lowest rent.
BECAUSE they have no clerks to pay.
BECAUSE they do their own work.
THAT IS THE REASON.

WOMANS CLUB LIBRARY.

Our library is constantly and steadily growing, sixteen books have been received recently which were sent by former Lancaster girls and boys now living in other states. In the list are James L. Allen's latest book "Cathedral Singers" and Eleanor Porter's "Just David" and other books of equal interest. We extend a cordial invitation to all friends here to visit our library and bring their guests.
The reading of one good book is worth the price of a membership ticket.

GOOD MASONIC WORK.

Some of the most interesting work ever seen in the local Masonic lodge was seen here on last Thursday night, the 15th, when a team came down from Carlisle, Ky and conferred the M. M. degree on Rev. F. M. Tindler, Rev. A.
J. Clere and Dr. Pryor. The team was headed by Past Grand Master, Sam K.
Veach and carried with it several splendid voices, which being added to by some of our local talent, made the music one of the most interesting features of the work.

Carlisle is Bro. Tindler's old home, and several of the crowd came especially on his account, to use their own language, Bro. Tindler having performed the marriage ceremony for them years ago, they "wanted to get even with him."

The crowd was composed of the following gentlemen: P. G. M., Sam K. Veach, Dr. G. B. Spenser, G. H.
Fisher, T. E. Hutchings, Dudley Spencer,
Taylor Mathers, I. B. Ross, L. A.
Martin, Perry McClannahan, Wm.
Roberts, H. R. Ewing, John F. Morgan and Harvey Norton.

The crowd came through in automobiles, and was composed of the lending business and professional men of Carlisle. The work was put on in a most beautiful and impressive manner, some of the number being members of the best degree teams of the Masons in the state.

PRESIDENT WOODROW WILSON.

A sterling and unconquerable ticket has again been named to lead the Democrats to victory. Woodrow Wilson has been renominated as the Standard bearer of this great party. His motto has been "To Maintain Our National Honor by Peace if we Can, by War if we Must." Believing in peace, and believing in efficiency of armament to preserve peace, President Wilson has taken a strong stand in favor of preparedness. During his administration the prosperity of the country has increased 21 per cent and wages 54 per cent. His administration has constantly devoted itself to the stimulation of industry and agriculture.

"INDIANA STILL IN DOUBT" TO BE REVIVED

Many years ago Indiana was one of several states which formed a pivot upon which presidential elections hinged.
This year with both vice presidential candidates to her credit, the hoosier state again bids fair to become the battle ground. Both Marshall and Fairbanks are from Indiana, and with two United States Senators to be elected, the fight will be fast and furious, and with the coming November election the old time election cry of "Indiana still in doubt" will probably once again be liberally interspersed with the election returns.

HAS BAD LUCK WITH TRACTION ENGINE.

Mr. Joshua Hurt, who operates two threshing outfits, started one of his large traction engines from Lancaster to take another engine to Mr. Leslie Bradshaw Mills in Madison county.
When near Teatersville the engine
went through a bridge; this occurred
on Monday and two days was consumed in raising the engine. On the return trip to the home of Mr. Hurt on Back Creek near Point Leavel, the engine
went through the bridge near the West
place on the Kirskeville pike, again requiring two days to extricate it.
Luckily no one was injured by either accident, and the engine was not sufficiently damaged to prevent its taking out a threshing outfit with the opening of the season. The county sustained considerable expense by the destruction of two culvert bridges.

ZACK SIMPSON OF SPOON- VILLE KILLED BY HIS NEIGHBOR, ASBIE SEBASTIAN.

As the result of a quarrel between Zack Simpson and Asbie Sebastian, who owns adjoining farms in the Eastern section of Garrard County Ky, near the Madison County line, Asbie Sebastian last Saturday morning about 11 o'clock, shot and instantly killed Zack Simpson with a shot gun and Sebastian was severely beaten and bruised at the hands of Simpson's two sons, nineteen and twenty-one years of age respectively. Simpson was shot one time in the bowels and lived only a few minutes.
Sebastian surrendered to the officers but was unable to be brought to town by Sheriff Ballard until late in the afternoon on account of his condition.
He was allowed a guard and placed in the care of Dr. J. A. Amon. It was stated to Judge Arnold by Dr. Amon that the defendant will be able to be in Court on Thursday morning at which time the day will be set for holding an examining trial. The defendant has retained J. E. Robinson and L. L.
Walker to defend him in the case.
Both the deceased man and Sebastian have large family connections and are among the most prominent people in the county.

OFFICERS OF C. W. B. M. ELECTED.

The following efficient and conscientious officers have been elected by the C. W. B. M. to serve the ensuing year.
President, Mrs. Emma Higginbotham;
Vice-President Mrs. Lula Johnson, Secretary Mrs. Johnston Price, Treasurer Mrs. J. R. Mount.

MEETING OF THE STATE DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE

J. E. Robinson, a member of the State Executive Committee, is in Louisville this week attending a meeting of the committee called for the purpose of organizing the campaign for the November election. It is the purpose of the party to make one of the most aggressive fights ever made in Kentucky with the view of getting President Wilson to take another engine to Mr. Leslie Bradshaw Mills in Madison county.
When near Teatersville the engine
went through a bridge; this occurred
on Monday and two days was consumed
in raising the engine. On the return trip to the home of Mr. Hurt on Back
Creek near Point Leavel, the engine
went through the bridge near the West
place on the Kirskeville pike, again requiring two days to extricate it.
Luckily no one was injured by either
accident, and the engine was not sufficiently damaged to prevent its taking
out a threshing outfit with the opening
of the season. The county sustained
considerable expense by the destruction
of two culvert bridges.

BUILDING AND RUMORS OF BUILDING.

Lancaster for the past several years has experienced a steady growth, both in population and in the building line.
Every year a number of new residences go up in and about the town. This year is no exception to the rule as several neat and more or less pretentious houses are under course of construction.
However there may be expected a liberal increase along the building line in the near future, as the builder follows closely upon the heels of Cupid as a usual thing; several of the recently wedded couples have already purchased lots, while others are busy seeking locations, and we may expect to see them all comfortably located in new homes before the snow flies again.

COLORS PEOPLE "RALLYING."

The colored people of the community, to judge from their recent actions, are determined to release their church property from all debts by which it has been encumbered. There seems to be a friendly spirit of co-operation between the two denominations, Baptist and Methodist, for a few weeks ago the former held a big "rally" at which the latter assisted, as a result of which their treasury was considerably flushed; and in turn the Baptists "came over into Macedonia" and returned the favor, and at a monstrous gathering or "rally" last Sunday at the Methodist church, in which a number of prominent divines from a distance, including a colored Bishop, took part, sufficient funds were raised to raise a two hundred dollar mortgage upon the colored parsonage.

RAISING RASPBERRIES.

Succeed Best Upon Deep, Moist, but Well Drained Soil.

Raspberries succeed best upon deep, moist but well drained loamy soils, the blacks upon the heavier and the reds upon the lighter. The more retentive of moisture the soil is the better since the fruit ripens at a time when water is often scarce; hence the addition of humus is often desirable. It may be most easily obtained in the form of stable manure and green manures, such as clover grown at least one year before planting. The ground should be plowed as deeply as possible without turning up the subsoil and after harrowing the plants set. Clean cultivation both ways is usually practiced until midsummer, when a cover crop of crimson clover or some shallow rooting plant is sown to be turned under the following spring. Sometimes, however, other crops, such as potatoes, carrots, beets, etc., which are not tall, are grown between the rows for one or perhaps two years. Wood ashes, muriate of potash, superphosphates and ground bone are favorite sources of potash and phosphoric acid. With adequate tillage during the summer spring plowing may be avoided. For market the fruit should never be picked until after the dew is dried and should be shipped to market in small packages. Red raspberries are usually marketed in pint baskets. The picking of both kinds of raspberries is generally done by hand.

ALFALFA FOR HORSES.

Should Be Allowed to Come to Full Bloom Before Cutting.

Alfalfa hay cut at the right stage of growth and properly cured and fed is one of the best feeds produced in Kansas for all classes of horses, according to C. P. Thompson, specialist in animal husbandry, division of college extension, Kansas State Agricultural college.

"Allow the alfalfa to come to full bloom before cutting and let it become well cured before stacking," advises Mr. Thompson. "Do not feed too much. Eight or ten pounds daily for a thousand pounds live weight is sufficient for work horses. Feed most of the hay at night. Never feed too much roughage of any kind at noon to horses that are working, and never feed musty or moldy hay."

"If alfalfa hay is used for part or all of the roughage 80 per cent corn and 20 per cent bran is a good combination. Where alfalfa hay is used the bran is added to furnish bulk, especially if the corn is to be ground. From eight and one-half to ten pounds of grain a day for each thousand pounds of live weight is sufficient to keep a work horse in good condition."

When Humus is Lacking.
Soil that is wanting in humus will heave badly during the winter, and when land heaves it is a sure sign that the soil requires humus, deep tillage and lime.

Heaving is the action of the frost, repeated freezing and thawing throwing plants, such as strawberries, for example, almost completely out of the ground.

Soil that is supplied with plenty of humus and has been tilled deeply lets the water down under the surface quickly, preventing washing and serious damage from the action of frost.

CHERRY SPRAYING PLAN.

A spray calendar for the prevention and control of insects and fungous diseases affecting the cherry has been outlined by the Pennsylvania station. For the dormant spray in spring, before buds start, lime-sulphur is used. It is not often needed on sour varieties. Immediately after the petals fall lime-sulphur and 40 per cent nicotine extract, half to three-fourths pint to fifty gallons, is used for aphid and leaf spot. Lead arsenate paste, three pounds, is added for curculio, slugs and red leaf beetle.

When fruit is the size of a small pea a spray may be applied for brown rot. Materials are the same as for the aphid and curculio spray. If the fruit is very bad a coarse spray of lead arsenate, three pounds, and molasses, one pint to fifty gallons of the lime-sulphur, is used on the lower limbs, when the adults appear in early June.

Shortly after the fruit is picked a spray is given if leaf spot is apprehended. Lime-sulphur alone is used to prevent defoliation by the leaf spot or shot hole fungus. Repeat a month later if this disease is bad. If pests are known to be absent corresponding sprays are omitted.

Survival of Ancient Type.

One of the strangest animals known to zoologists is the tenrec, an insect-eating animal found only in the island of Madagascar. It is supposed to represent a very ancient type of animal which is now almost extinct. Madagascar, once a part of the mainland of the African continent, was separated therefrom at a very remote period in the past. As a result a fauna peculiar to the island has been developed.

IT'S THREE YEARS OLD

But Mrs. Walter Says It's Just As Good Today As When It Was First Made.

Three years ago Mrs. Walter testified to complete relief from kidney ills. Later she says that there has not been the slightest return of the trouble. Lancaster sufferers will take a deal of comfort in Mrs. Walter's statement. Read what she says:
Mrs. B. F. Walter, Hill St., Lancaster, says: "Whenever my back becomes lame and painful, a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at R. E. McRoberts & Son's Drug Store, bring me instant relief. At one time I feared that I had serious kidney trouble. The kidney secretions were unnatural and gave unmistakable evidence of disordered kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills in a short time made my kidneys normal."

HASN'T SUFFERED SINCE.
OVER THREE YEARS LATER, Mrs. Walter said: "My kidneys have been in excellent condition since giving my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Walter has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. 6-15-21.

AGRICULTURE AND PROSPERITY.

It is impossible to measure, or even estimate, the importance of agriculture to a people. It is the foundation upon which civilization and society rest; the basis and source of the permanent wealth of a nation. No people in history have made substantial progress in civilization, the arts and sciences, and have remained long prosperous if they have neglected agriculture. It is the most universal of all arts, the parent of manufactures and commerce and the basis of all other industries, and without which all others must decay and perish.

Indeed, where a people have devoted themselves to agriculture they have been uniformly prosperous and progressive, while those nations and the people who have abandoned or even neglected it have declined.—H. G. Davis.

GREEN BUGS IN KANSAS.

They Are Causing Great Damage to Oats and Wheat.

Southern Kansas farmers in districts where green bugs have invaded the fields and the oats have been ruined are urged to start out the pests by pasturing, and subsequently plant fields to feterita or Sudan grass.

L. E. Call, professor of agronomy in the Kansas State Agricultural college, who has investigated conditions, reports that the ravages by the insects have been severe in Sumner, Harper, to some extent in Cowley county and in north central Oklahoma. Oats practically have been destroyed in the portion of Oklahoma mentioned and in the eastern and southern parts of Sumner county.

Wheat has been damaged, but not destroyed. Even the corn has been attacked and by a sufficient number of bugs to ruin the crop. The insects were found as far north as Salina, but not in large enough numbers to cause alarm. Serious infestation is not expected to become general in Kansas unless dry weather should prevail. Heavy rains in southern Kansas would tend to destroy the bugs and benefit the crops.

"Replanting now is simply adding feed for the green bugs," says Professor Call. "Where oats have been damaged beyond recovery pasture the fields and thus reduce the available food supply for the pests. After this is done the ground either should be plowed or listed, depending upon the crop to be planted later. It is preferable to plow, as this will turn under green bugs and will leave no food for additional insects."

"The ground should be kept in good condition, but no crop should be planted until the bugs have been starved out or have been brought under control by the parasitic insects that usually hold the green bugs in check. When the bugs have disappeared it will be too late to plant corn or such late maturing sorghums as Kaffir. It probably will be advisable to depend upon early maturing crops, such as feterita for grain and Sudan grass for hay."

"Feterita could be planted safely as late as the middle of June and mature a crop of grain in a normal season. Sudan grass could be planted July 1 or even two weeks later. Plant as soon as possible after the disappearance of the green bug."

Seed Planter Quite Useful.
The Scientific American in illustrating and describing a planter invented by O. L. Freilinn of Santa Rosa, Cal., says:
This inventor provides a planter having a delivery hopper providing means which may be automatically operated by a ground wheel for delivering seeds at predetermined spaced intervals; provides a planter having an automatically operable device for planting the seeds at spaced intervals, and means for covering the seeds, and provides an arrangement whereby the planting rows may be spaced at desired distances apart.

DON'T GO TO BED WITH COLD FEED

Says: "Often Brings On Attacks Of Acute Rheumatism."

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, and people who are subject to attacks of rheumatism should never go to bed with cold feet.
A whole lot is being said about taking salts and effervescent tablets for rheumatism and sciatica, but those who suffer sharp twinges and painful swollen joints need something powerful to overcome their piteous suffering.
Any broad-minded druggist will tell you that one-half teaspoonful of Rheuma taken once a day is driving more rheumatism out of afflicted people than all the salts on earth. Right in this neighborhood R. E. McRoberts and all druggists sell large quantities of it, and it's the surest and most inexpensive remedy—about 50 cents a bottle.

The democratic Convention at St.

Louis has met and adjourned. The renomination of President Wilson and

Vice-President Marshall was expected and the general results of the Convention was such to magnify the hope of every democrat in the Nation that the President will be re-elected and democratic principles approved in the November election. The Convention was unique in the harmony that prevailed in all of its proceedings. It was certainly a great body of enthusiastic democrats, satisfied to the fullest extent with the accomplishments of the past four years of the party and full of hope that the party will be retained in power. Hon.

member of the sub-committee to prepare the platform for the party at which task he worked ardently during the adjourning hours, and the great platform which so delights the loyal democrats in every State in the Nation is the highest compliment to his magnificent work. There are a great many Ex-Kentuckians who constitute some of the most prominent citizens of the great city of St. Louis. These ex-Kentuckians spared no effort to see that every member of the Kentucky delegation enjoyed his visit to that City. The Kentucky delegation were therefore, royally entertained and were pleased at the happy opportunity of attending the greatest democratic convention that ever assembled in this country. The party begins this campaign stronger and better united than ever before, which gives the highest assurance that President Wilson will be re-elected.

Fire Dangers.

Most everyone who has had any dealings with machinery knows about the liability of oily rags and waste that have been used for cleaning purposes to ignite from spontaneous combustion; but few are aware that sawdust, when soaked with oil drippings, will act in the same way. Sawdust is sometimes seen scattered over garage floors, but this practice should be prohibited. Sand is the safest for absorbing drippings.

LABOR SCARCIE.

There bids fair to be a great scarcity of labor in this locality during the coming summer and fall. Factories in the north are offering great inducements to our young men, which are being eagerly accepted, many young men yet in school going to northern cities to work during their vacation, and return to their studies in the fall. This makes a considerable inroad into the farm labor as these young men are accustomed to assist with the harvest and farm work.

"Richmond Ind." or some other "cross the river resort is still catching the better element of our colored labor, both male and female, and the majority of what is left is very poor picking. In consequence of these conditions the farmer bemoans his inability to secure farm help, while the housewife is sweltering over the stove and worrying over her inability to get a cook, all of which points to the fact that there is no excuse for any able-bodied person, black or white, in this community being idle.

CARRANZA

ISSUES STATEMENT TO EF-FECT NO ATTEMPT WILL

BE MADE BY MEXICO

TO INVADE U. S.

Mexico City, June 21—Gen. Carranza today issued a statement declaring no attempt would be made by Mexico to invade the United States. He said

Mexico is a much weaker nation but that the Mexicans would fight till the last. He declared the American ex-peditio into Mexico was not a hunt for bandits but that heavy cannon were brought for a complete campaign throughout the country. There is no question that Carranza is doing his utmost to protect Americans in Mexico

City. He has offered a guard to protect the train which will carry Americans to Vera Cruz tomorrow.

The allied powers of Europe today made representations to Gen. Carranza setting forth in most urgent manner that he must not have war with the United States. The powers believe that Germany is inciting ill feeling in Mexico against the Americans because America will capture the Mexican and

Central American trade that Germany once had. Mobilization is going on promptly throughout the United States and it is expected the entire national guard will be ready for action in one month. Gen. Funston, however, will be furnished 28,000 men for guard duty immediately. It is not known from which states these men will be taken.

Lines Hardly Appropriate.

The lines in the Dutch national hymn, "Preserve, O God, the dear old ground, thou to our fathers gave,"

seem to indicate a considerable modesty on the part of Northerners, the supposedly correct fact being that they reclaimed the ground themselves.

Providence actually being something of a hindrance, both to its acquisition and its "preservation" for which they pray.

Summer's Follies.

The great Charles Sumner is said to have adopted a picturesque style of dress, wearing colors brighter than those which predominated in the senatorial garb of the period. His appearance in his seat in the senate was studiously dignified. He once remarked to Noah Brooks that he never allowed himself, even in the privacy of his own chamber, to fall into a position that he would not take in the senate. "Habit is everything," he was wont to say.

Lye as a Cleanser.

Optimistic Thought.

The sting of every reproachful speech is the truth of it.

FORMER LANCASTER BOY

WRITES OF HIS FARM.

A splendid article appears in the April "Country Gentleman" entitled

"A Hill, a Brook and a Weeping-Willow Tree" by James H. Burdett, who will be remembered in Lancaster as "little Jim Burdett", second son of Mr. and Mrs. George Burdett who left as almost thirty years ago. Jim, though holding a splendid position in Chicago says he is a "back-to-the-lander", and he addresses himself to those who have developed the ten-acre vision, saying the excitement and stimulation of the city, the shallow sensualities of cabarets, the lure of bright lights, vacuum cleaners, elevators and other supercomforts could not deaden his hunger for the world God made and gave him, so accordingly he and his wife began a search for a country home

the aesthetic specifications being a hill, a brook and a weeping-willow tree.

They found all they were looking for and much more and he says that though the trees were not technically weeping willows they wept sufficiently to satisfy his wife as well as his.

orioles, wrens and many song birds.

Being close to a splendid school he says his children will not suffer for lack of school facilities and the recreation they will get on the ten acres will be worth much in fitting them for useful lives.

As long as Jim had the vision of "back to land" we wish he had had the vision of "back to Lancaster," because we could have given him all he has gotten and thrown in relatives and life long friends.

ALL ABOARD DEMOCRATS

FOR THE NOVEMBER

ELECTION.

President Wilson will be re-elected for the splendid legislative achievements accomplished during his administration. By the same token, the Democrats who have been his co-laborers and fellow workers in his legislative program merit the endorsement of the people. The entire country is profoundly grateful to the President and the Democratic Congress who have kept our country at peace when the rest of the world is at war. The prosperity of the people is unquestioned.

If the Republicans and Bull Moose parties can afford to compose their differences as they did at Chicago, surely the Democrats of this district can learn a timely and useful lesson from that example. The last State election showed

STAKING FARM BOYS.

Bankers and Business Men of Oklahoma Start Youngsters in Hog Raising.

Bankers and business men throughout Oklahoma are starting hundreds of farm boys into the hog raising business by either furnishing a free pig or lending the money necessary to a start in the business.

Although many persons have expressed a willingness to provide a certain number of boys with foundation stock at no cost, the most popular plan now seems to be a business arrangement by which the boy shares a responsibility practically equivalent to that of business transactions he may enter into later in life.

Three county agents in eastern Oklahoma recently held a conference and adopted a contract form to be used in their counties in the pig club work.

Following are the terms of the contract as agreed upon in these three counties:

That the party of the first part furnishes to the party of the second part a registered sow pig.

That the party of the second part agrees to receive the pig above mentioned, to make all reports required, feed it, care for it and house it as directed by the party of the first part, provided that all pigs shall be housed in a hog house such as described in Farmers' Bulletin 595, on pages 11, 12 and 13, or a hog house of its equivalent.

It is further agreed that the party of the second part shall breed the sow when not less than eight months of age to a registered sire of the same breed.

It is further agreed that the party of the second part shall keep all breeding stock registered.

It is further agreed that the party of the first part reserves the right to purchase the choicest pig of the first litter at from six to ten months of age at $15 if unbred and at $20 if bred, to be sold in turn to another club member.

It is further agreed that the party of the second part shall sign a promissory note, which shall bear 10 per cent interest from date until paid, for such amount as party of the first part may have spent for the pig that was delivered to the party of the second part.

It is further agreed that payment of above note shall be made on or before the expiration of one year from time of entering this contract and when same shall have been paid by the party of the second part that the original sow mentioned, together with all of her increase, shall become the property of the party of the second part.

It is further agreed that in case the party of the second part is unable to carry out the provisions of this contract or willfully violates them the pig with all her increase shall be paid for at once by the party of the second part or returned to the party of the first part to be delivered to some other club member. In such case the party of the second part ceases to be a club member.

Pruning Peach Trees.
[J. F. Riddell, Oklahoma station.]

A question frequently asked is, "When is the proper time to prune peach trees?" In general the answer to this question is: During the dormant period, preferably in late winter or early spring, just before growth starts, except in regions where bleeding from wounds is likely to occur. In such regions it should probably be done in early winter, but conditions and the object of pruning must be considered in each case.

If the pruning operations are very extensive economic requirements may make it necessary to prune throughout the winter whenever the weather is suitable for men to work in the orchard. If the fruit buds are endangered during the winter by adverse temperatures it may be advisable to delay pruning as much as economic conditions permit until settled spring weather arrives. This is especially advisable if heavy heading in of the previous season's growth is involved, since the proportion of live buds may determine the extent to which the cutting back should be carried.

BITS OF POULTRY WISDOM.

To prevent hens from eating their eggs arrange a false bottom in the nest, through which the egg will roll slowly out of sight when laid. There are several ways of doing this. By making the nests dark the formation of this habit will be prevented.

The best means of cheering up chicks is furnishing them with some garden worms to fight over. If it's dry and worms are scarce fresh beef cut in strips will serve the purpose. Sliced onion will do the work if you don't give it to them too often. Anything to make them scrappy.

An excellent grade of charcoal can be made by burning corn cobs till they turn red, extinguishing the fire and when dry grinding for mash feeding for the poultry.

To tell a pullet from a hen look at the surface of the upper part of the wing. In a pullet this shows minute rose colored veins, which are not seen in a bird over twelve months old.

A pullet, too, has smooth legs and shows long, silky hairs in the plumage, which are not seen in a bird over a year old.

Often lack of exercise and green food will cause feather eating. It is a very good plan to feed sulphur in the mash, especially when one sees the hens starting this bad habit.

Nearly every woman who has an ordinary head of hair can by giving it just a little attention have luxuriant hair, soft, fluffy and radiantly beautiful.

Mrs. Charley Coulter.

After two months of intense suffering, death came to the relief of Mrs. Charley Coulter, Friday morning at three A. M.

Mrs. Coulter was horribly burned while sitting with her back to the fire, a spark igniting her clothing, and enveloping her in flames before she knew it. All that the best medical skill and careful nursing could do was of no avail.

Mrs. Coulter who was Miss Peachie Sherrow before her marriage, was in her 49th year, and is survived by her husband and eleven children, three of whom are married, and five brothers and one sister.

Mrs. Coulter was a woman of many excellent qualities who will be sadly missed not only by her own immediate family but by friends and neighbors as well. No night was too dark or any home too lowly for her to minister to, to those who were sick or in distress, and her home was always open to those who were in need. The esteem in which she was held was evidenced by the large number of friends and relatives assembled at the funeral services which were conducted at Mt. Olivet church by her pastor, R. M. Lee, assisted by Rev. Regan of the M. E. church at Nicholasville. Interment in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

Card Of Thanks.

We desire to thank the many friends and neighbors who were so kind and extended their tenderest sympathy and loving deeds to us during the illness and death of our dear wife and mother, C. W. Coulter and Children.

Miceproof Furniture.

A sure way to keep mice out of bureau, chiffoniers, sideboards, etc., is to tack a piece of zinc under each article of furniture. The zinc should be made to fit closely. It is not necessary in the case of bureau to put zinc under each drawer; one piece at the very bottom will suffice.

HANDLING MANURE.

There is no better or more economical method of handling manure than to haul it daily to the fields, meadows or pastures. Once it is there any plant food which leeches from it finds its way immediately into the ground where it belongs. Even on hillsides the absorbing power of the soil is such that little fertility is lost when this plan is followed. There can be only exceptional instances where manure cannot be handled daily by loading the spreader as the barns are cleaned. In these instances a cement floored shed, roofed and sided so as to protect its contents from the elements of the weather, is as essential to farm equipment as is the grain bin, the corncrib, the haymow and the silo.—Kimball's Dairy Farmer.

PLANTING CORN.

The Time to Plant Varies With the Season and the Locality.

When the ground becomes sufficiently warm to start the leaves on the deep rooted trees, like the oak, the walnut and the Osage orange, it is time to plant corn, according to C. C. Cunningham, assistant in co-operative experiments in the Kansas State Agricultural college.

"The time to plant corn varies with the season and the locality. The growing season in southern Kansas is from two to three weeks earlier than that in northern Kansas. In the western part of the state the altitude is a factor in determining the time of planting, in that the season is shortened as a result of the greater elevation.

"Under average conditions there is a period of about three weeks during which corn may be planted with equal chances of success, although sometimes, because of the numerous conditions, very early or very late plantings are best. In the northern and the northeastern portions of the state from May 1 to 20 is, on the average, the best time to plant corn, while in southern Kansas most of the corn is planted in the last three weeks of April."

The time required to mature the variety of corn grown is a factor to be considered, points out Mr. Cunningham. Early maturing varieties may be planted comparatively late with good results, while late maturing ones must necessarily obtain an early start in order to ripen properly. Since the top soil becomes warm earlier than the subsoil, the surface planted corn may be seeded earlier than the listed corn.

A wet soil warms up more slowly than a comparatively dry one. Corn consequently can be planted in the drier soils earlier than in the wet ones. For this reason early planting is safer in western than in eastern Kansas, because of the naturally drier condition of the soil in the western part of the state.

Bolt and Tool Cupboard.

Here is a sketch of a sort of cupboard of tools and bolts. The squares marked 1 1/2, 2, 2 1/2, etc., are drawers for bolts, burrs and washers and screws, and the numbers represent the length of the bolts so as to enable any one to find just what you want in a hurry. If painted dark the numbers can be marked with chalk and easily removed or changed if desired. All drawers have a piece of strap for pulling the drawers open.—H. H. in Farmer.

Setting Bush Fruits.

The extension specialist in fruit growing of the New Jersey agricultural experiment station recommends that raspberry and blackberry plants should be set about three feet apart in the row. Six feet is the minimum distance between rows, and blackcap raspberries and blackberries will often do better if the rows are seven feet apart. Such strong growing varieties of blackberries as Ewing Wonder or Black Diamond are easier to cultivate and handle when set at a minimum of four feet apart in the row. Dewberries are usually set with the rows six feet apart. Currants and gooseberries should be set four feet apart in the row, with six feet between rows.

Early planting of bush fruits is very important. If the buds and shoots are broken off after starting the second lot does not develop immediately and the plants therefore do not get a good start. The blackcap raspberry requires more care in planting than the red raspberry or blackberry, because its roots are developed in a cluster, similar to those of the strawberry. All plants bearing root gall, a most destructive disease, should be thrown out.

NITROGEN FOR NOTHING.

Why buy nitrogen when you can get it for nothing? Both cowpeas and soy beans take nitrogen from the air and put it in the soil. These plants are great soil builders and furnish a great deal of humus when plowed under. As a feed, both green and cured, they are equal to clover. Both these plants, especially the cowpeas, will grow on poorer soil and require less time than clover, and on this account are easier to grow.

Cowpeas and soy beans will grow only during warm weather. Planting should therefore be delayed until about June 1. The seed may be sown broadcast or put in with a drill, using one and a half to two bushels of seed per acre. Drilling will be found more satisfactory than broadcasting, especially in dry weather.

While both the plants will grow in rather poor soil, some lime is necessary. Use about a ton of hydrated lime to the acre. This should be applied after plowing and disking in before seeding, so the lime will also help other crops which follow.—John Michels.

THE COUNTY AGENT.

The Value of His Advice Is Made Manifest.

Until the last few years the county agent was practically unknown in America. The educational work done was accomplished through the department of agriculture or agricultural colleges in the different states, usually working on the farmer from a distance through pamphlets, correspondence, etc. The county agent movement represents the growth of the idea that the most good can be accomplished through local organization coming in closer contact with the farmer. There are now in the United States 313 counties employing paid county agents, or advisers, whose work comprehends silos, crops, live stock, cultural and tillage methods, better roads and is being enlarged to include other activities.

Indiana, Wisconsin, New York, Minnesota, Michigan, North Dakota, New Jersey, Ohio, Utah, Oregon, Washington, Vermont, Colorado, Idaho, Montana and Illinois have laws providing for county agents. These advisers visit the farms in their counties during the summer, give lectures, help the farmer with his problems and bring to him in concrete form the results of the latest scientific experiments conducted by the agricultural colleges. What the county agent has done for the farmer is described by Robert H. Moulton in the Outlook. The farmer, he says, has been taught to recognize each of the soil types of the county by sight; to know each of the numerous insect pests, and the means of their extermination; to make seed tests and to discover the variety best adapted for their peculiar need. He has been taught the value of rotation, leguminous crops and commercial fertilizers. Through the medium of the county adviser's office the farmers are brought together in a social intercourse which was led, in many cases, to the formation of co-operative organizations. In one county in Illinois farmers organized a seed pool, each sending in a list of the seeds needed. The discount from the list prices obtained by this method is said to have been almost sufficient to pay the county agent's salary for the year. That county has also established a co-operative slaughter house and a community laundry. The 156 county agents who reported to the department of agriculture last year showed that benefits directly traceable to their work were worth several millions of dollars. They were responsible for the construction of 1,904 silos, the improvement of 614 farm buildings, the installation of forty water supply systems and improvement in sanitary condition and appearance of home grounds on 507 farms. This work was incidental to advising with farmers, making soil analyses and working out rotation and drainage problems. Their success and the fact that in nearly all cases they are employed by the farmer, who bears part of the salary expense, indicates that the attitude of the average farmer toward scientific agricultural methods is changing, or that in the past he has been misrepresented.

Hay Rack For Loader.

Those farm youths who have toiled beneath a 100 degree sun in an attempt to load ahead of a loader that was sweeping up heavy windrows will see that the head of the farm looks into this invention that is designed to do away with the killing pace they have had to put up to keep from stopping the team and resting while they distributed the piles of hay that rolled up. The man on the hayrack can tell the driver to go ahead and calmly tramp down the hay as it rolls up on the front end. When that is loaded he moves a lever that unlocks a reciprocal truck on the bed of the rack and the hay loading surface of the rack is moved ahead and the rear half brought up under the loader to be loaded, as was the front.—Farming Business.

Making the Little Farm Pay

By C. C. BOWSFIELD

Asparagus is one of the greatest of the money making crops and should have a place on almost every farm. This is a hardy product that does not require quick marketing and therefore it can be raised at any distance from a town. With the keenest demand for asparagus that has ever been known, farmers who are studying up a variety of profitable crops should give this vegetable considerable attention.

The day has come when thinking farmers will have large gardens, and they will specialize on fruits and vegetables that are suitable for canning, as well as for marketing while fresh. Any intelligent family can make money from a good garden. One of the main things is to cultivate products that are hardy and will give a little leeway in marketing, for people at a distance from town may find it impossible to go every day. With good shipping facilities and an active family of young people to assist in the marketing there may be a broader program of vegetable growing.

Large yields of asparagus can be made on almost any type of soil, but when grown for early market a light, sandy, well drained loam is preferred. The land should be reasonably free of roots, stones or any trash that will interfere with the growth of the stalks. Plow deeply, and thoroughly prepare the land preparatory to setting the plants. Asparagus is a perennial crop.

PLANTING ASPARAGUS.

and the more time and care given to the preparation of the ground the more profitable will be the yield. Preparation can best begin in the fall, following any crop that has had clean cultivation. A heavy application of well rotted barnyard manure plowed in at this time will help the condition of the soil and afford plant food for the following spring.

Being a gross feeder, asparagus needs rather heavy fertilization. As it is grown for its succulent stems only, the fertilizer should be rich in nitrogen and potash to develop strong and rapid growth. Barnyard manure supplies a certain amount of these elements, but many successful growers add chemical fertilizers. The use of 800 to 1,200 pounds an acre of a fertilizer containing phosphoric acid, 7 per cent; nitrogen, 5 per cent; actual potash, 9 per cent, is recommended. An application of at least 500 pounds an acre of this fertilizer every year will add to the value of the crop. About twenty-five tons of well rotted barnyard manure can be used to advantage every third year. This can best be applied just after the cutting season is over. Chemical fertilizers should also be used at this time.

Asparagus roots stand transplanting better in the spring than later. Early rains and the moisture already in the ground insure against the necessity of watering the plants. Strong one year plants are preferable to older ones.

The common mistake in large gardens is to set the plants from two to three feet apart in rows four to six feet apart. The crowns are planted from five to seven inches deep in the rows. The cultivation of asparagus is practically the same as that given to other truck crops, except that in the early spring when the stalks are coming up the dirt must be loosened and worked toward them. While asparagus is wanted in nearly all markets. As a rule the blanched stalks are not so tender as the green ones, but as nearly all buyers prefer the white product it is best to cater to this demand.

The acreage value of asparagus may be set down as $300 to $600. Any farmer who has town customers or who will establish good arrangements with grocers and commission men can depend on profits amounting to several hundred dollars an acre from a good sized and well managed garden. Such crops as asparagus are so much more profitable than grain that they ought to receive attention from every industrious rural family. The extensive canning of asparagus can be managed by members of the household, thus enlarging the income from the crop and giving a business that will provide cash every month of the year.

How to Use Poultry Manure.

Do not use poultry manure in a fresh condition. Mix it with an equal amount of sand or soil and apply lightly.

Scientific Farming

TROUBLESOME SCALES.

Oyster Shell and Scurfy Scale Most Disastrous Next to San Jose.

[Prepared by United States Department of Agriculture.]

Next to the San Jose scale orchardists appear to be more troubled by the oyster shell and the scurfy scale than by any other insects of this character. These two scales frequently kill individual branches and stunt whole trees. They winter in the egg stage under their protecting scales and for this reason are less susceptible to washes than the San Jose scale. In most cases, however, the treatment for the latter will hold the oyster shell and the scurfy scale in check as well.

The oyster shell is found in nearly every state in the country. It attacks apple, maple, horse chestnut, poplar, willow, lilac and other trees. Shade trees which are not often sprayed are especially susceptible to attack. This insect resembles somewhat a long narrow oyster shell, under which the eggs are concealed. These hatch at varying times, but usually through the months of April, May and June.

The scurfy scale is especially common on apple, pear, cherry and peach trees. It is less widely distributed than the oyster shell and is regarded as less harmful.

Where orchards are pruned and sprayed regularly for the San Jose scale during the dormant period no additional measures for protection against the oyster shell and scurfy scale are usually necessary. Additional spraying, however, may be needed if an abundance of young scales hatch in the spring. These may be killed by kerosene emulsion or other contact sprays. Infested trees should be carefully watched during the spring and early summer in order to discover the insects as soon as they hatch and to apply the spray at once.

Following are directions for making the kerosene emulsion and the lime-sulphur mixture used for spraying for San Jose scale, as well as for the oyster shell and scurfy scale.

Kerosene emulsion is made after the following formula: Kerosene (coal oil, lamp oil, two gallons; dish oil or laundry soap for a quart of soft soap), half a pound; water, one gallon.

First dissolve the soap in boiling water, then remove the vessel from the fire. Immediately add the kerosene and thoroughly agitate the mixture until a creamy solution results. The stock emulsion may be more conveniently made by pouring the mixture into the tank of a spray pump and pumping the liquid through the hose into the tank for some minutes. The stock solution, if well made, will keep for some months and is to be diluted before use. To make a 10 per cent spray (the strength for trees in foliage) add to each gallon of the stock solution about five and two-thirds gallons of water. For 20 and 25 per cent emulsions (for use on dormant trees and plants), use respectively about two and a third and one and two-thirds gallons of water for each gallon of stock emulsion. Agitate the mixture in all cases, after adding the water. The preparation of the emulsion will be simplified by the use of a naphtha soap. No heat will be required, as the kerosene will combine readily with the naphtha soap in water when thoroughly agitated. Double the quantity of naphtha soap given in the above formula, however, will be required, and soft or rain water should be used in making the emulsion. In regions where the water is "hard" this should first be broken with a little caustic potash or soda, as common lye, before use for dilution to prevent the soap from combining with the lime or magnesia present, thus liberating some of the kerosene, or rainwater may be employed.

A good lime-sulphur wash may be made for immediate use by the following formula: Stone lime, 20 pounds; sulphur (flour or flowers), 15 pounds; water to make 50 gallons.

SPRAYING PAYS.

- It improves the quality of the fruit.
- It makes possible larger yields of high grade fruit.
- It does away with many of the evils.
- It helps greatly in the sale of the fruit.
- It keeps the trees healthier.
- It is cheap fruit insurance.

SEED TEST OF OATS.

Farmers Warned Against Planting Untested Seeds.

To the warning issued by the department of agriculture recently, calling attention to the necessity for testing seed corn this spring, another warning is now added, in which the farmer is cautioned against using untested seed oats. Exhaustive tests conducted by the department experts produced results that brought forth the following statement:

The average germination was lowest for Indiana and highest for Iowa. Of the 2,300 samples tested from the three states 208, or over 9 per cent, germinated less than 75 per cent; 122 samples, or over 4 per cent, germinated less than 50 per cent, and 54 samples, or nearly 2 per cent, germinated less than 25 per cent. This shows that much of the seed oats intended to be used this spring germinates poorly and that germination tests should be made in all cases before sowing.

Nothing could be plainer than this. Oats show a higher average germination than the seed corn recently tested by the department, but the difference, when the final results are considered, is not so great as it may appear to be. The unseasonable weather of last summer, with its heavy rains and lack of sunshine, accounts for the low vitality of the seed. Farmers, on the whole, are aware of this, but many of them, despite the evidence to the contrary, are still inclined to rely on appearance as an indication of germinating power. Seed that looks good is accepted as good. A test, however, may develop the fact that appearances are deceptive.

In this case Indiana farmers especially are warned against planting untested oats. Oats from Iowa and Kansas showed higher average germination than those from Indiana. At the same time, continues the department statement, that the tests of seed from the three states were made samples were taken from car lots of commercial oats and tested, with the result that almost a fourth failed to germinate. "This shows," the department says, "that where commercial oats must be depended on for a seed supply it is even more important to test the seed for germination than when local supplies are relied on. Seed showing a low germination should either not be sowed or enough extra seed should be used to insure a good stand."

The warning is timely and, in view of the facts and the figures it presents, should prove sufficient. It will profit the farmer to heed it. Poor seed, either of corn or oats, will be sown this year only because the farmer cannot be made to realize that actual testing is the only sure indication of germination.—Indianapolis News.

Farm Signboards.

The farmers in one locality use a novel signboard to advertise their farm products. Instead of the usual painted slab or blackboard the passing autoist or summer visitor finds a neatly painted sign with all of the good things in the farmer's market for that day—for instance, "New Beets," "Shell Beans," "Fresh Killed Chickens."

Upon closer examination the sign will be found to be constructed of several panels with the articles for sale may be quickly inserted. A stock of these painted boards is kept to correspond to the different seasons of the year for the things on sale. The boards are usually painted white with black letters and present a neat appearance.—Popular Mechanics.

Diversity of Farm Enterprises.

In most cases where studies on the profits in farming have been made, particularly in our oldest agricultural districts, such studies indicate that the most successful farms are those which have from two to four major sources of income—namely, they have a well balanced and diversified business. In certain instances it may pay better to have only one enterprise, but usually when one crop pays much better than all others the production of it increases rapidly and soon the price falls to the point where other crops or products are equally as profitable. Diversified farming is often confused with farming where there is a little of everything and not much of anything. Either extreme lessens the chances of success. When the price of certain crops is very low then live stock usually becomes desirable. However, if the returns per animal are poor, cash crops even at a low price are essential. A well balanced business insures against losses and provides a much better utilization of the labor and equipment.

Time to Wean Pigs.

It pays to allow the pigs to suck until they are nine or ten weeks old. It may seem before this time that the pigs are not getting much from their mother. However, the little they do get helps wonderfully, and the pig that has a good start will grow into a profitable hog very quickly.

FARM STOCK.

- If the horses are slow to shed their coats feed a little oilmeal or use the horse clippers.
- Exercise in the open will cure active pigs never have thumps.
- Blood always tells. Plan to breed your sheep flock up, not down.
- The newly broken colt should not be worked too hard this spring. Too much work just now may ruin him.
- Be careful in feeding the sow. Never give her ill smelling corn swill.
- The man who is intelligent and painstaking can accomplish wonders with a nice flock of sheep.

VALUE OF CORN SILAGE AS A FEED FOR LAMBS

The purpose of a recent Nebraska lamb feeding experiment was to find out the comparative value of corn and alfalfa fed in various forms, with and without corn silage, says the Orange Judd Farmer. The addition of corn silage to a ration of shelled corn and alfalfa has increased the daily slight gain per lamb and increased the cost of production 5 cents per 100 pounds, but did not affect the net profit. The addition of silage to ground corn and ground alfalfa did not increase the gain, but reduced the cost of 100 pounds gain 31 cents.

Whole grain and hay in conjunction with the silage was the more economical of the two rations. Lambs on ground corn and ground alfalfa hay made daily gains of 0.371 pound at a cost of $6.12 per 100 pounds, while those on shelled corn and alfalfa hay made daily gains of 0.396 pound at a cost of $5.11 per 100 pounds. Grinding the two feeds and mixing together did not produce sufficient added gain to pay for the cost of grinding.

In a test to compare good versus poor alfalfa hay as a supplement to corn in mutton production it was found that good alfalfa was worth double the value of poor alfalfa hay. Corn and alfalfa hay made the best gains at the least cost in an experiment of four lots of lambs receiving different rations.
